

ST PETER'S CATHOLIC PARISH

Rochedale Springwood

Since 1974

955 Rochedale Rd, Rochedale 4123

Second Sunday in Ordinary Time (Year A)

15th January 2023

Readings: Isaiah 49:3, 5-6 1 Corinthians 1:1-3 John 1:29-34

Behold the Lamb of God

Today is the beginning of the public life of Jesus. Christmas is over, the child is grown up, the child becomes a man, and the man is baptised in the waters by John the Baptist, a sign of his oneness with all of humanity, that he is indeed the Messiah but he is true God and true man.

Today, we see John the Baptist testifying that Jesus indeed is the Son of God and the Son of man. Jesus is walking by him, and John, seeing him pass by, says, "Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sins of the world." He doesn't say, "Behold, the Messiah" or "Behold, the Son of God" but he says, "Behold, the Lamb of God." Lambs are very important to a shepherded people and, of course, we think of the lamb most of all when Jesus says that he is the shepherd, and the lambs hear his voice and follow him. But this is not what John has in mind. What John has in mind is something much deeper, something much more important.

He is telling his disciples that this is the sacrificial lamb, offered at the time when the people were under the slavery of Egypt. And the lamb was offered that terrible night and its blood was placed upon the doorposts of all the children of Israel and the lamb became the sacrifice by which all of them were freed. This is the lamb who is the sacrificial lamb. This is the Messiah who does not come with great armies. This is the Messiah who comes to us as a sacrificial lamb and, as John says, who offers his whole life that sins might be forgiven.

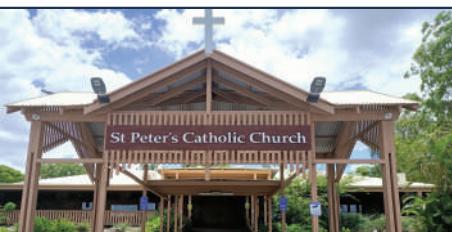

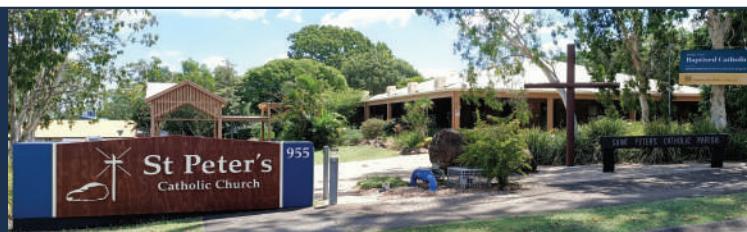

Jesus tells us today that he is the Lamb of God. It means... of course he is the shepherd, and we are the lambs. And that's what it means: that we too become the Lamb of God. We become the sons and daughters of God or, as it says in the readings today, the children of God. And that means that our lives have been changed, for there's no such thing as a lack of forgiveness in understanding God. God is only understood by love, and that is why the theologians teach us to sin is not to do something, it is to fail to do something.

And the one thing that God calls us, each day, and we live with Jesus who teaches us how, each day, the one thing is that there is only love and, if we sin, we take ourselves out of the one thing that is necessary for our heart and our soul and our lives, which is the fullness of God's love, flowing through us and to each other.

Finally, I am very grateful to each one of you for celebrating my Sacerdotal Silver Jubilee last week and the warm welcome that you gave to me. It was wonderful. I will be going to India for holidays from 12 January to 14 February.

Let us continue to pray for each other. May God bless us.

Faith Matters: Do you jump to conclusions?

One thing I have to repeatedly pull myself up for is the tendency to make assumptions about other people, based on their appearance, attitude, words or actions.

When someone cuts me off on the road or merges without giving way, I tend to see them not only as a bad driver, but as a bad person, with a bad, selfish attitude. It's obvious, isn't it?

However, if I draw on God's grace to review my reactions, I have to admit that I really know nothing about the driver except that he/she did something I considered wrong. The trouble is, even if I am completely right about the legality or safety of the driver's actions, I have no idea what caused the person to do what they did. I don't know their circumstances or motivation. It may even have been the only time that person ever did such a thing. I have to admit I just don't know. It is not my place to condemn another. I don't have the necessary insight, never mind the right. I need to give them the benefit of the doubt, forgive them, hold nothing against them, and ask God to bless and draw them to himself. That's what God's heart calls us to do: forgive others as he has forgiven us.

Saints with Feast Days this week:

St Anthony: Born in 251 in upper Egypt. Died in 356. At an early age he gave away his possessions and sought the austere life and solitude in the desert. Yet he remained involved in the theological controversies of his day, defending the divinity of Christ. He attracted disciples who formed communities of hermits. The account of his life by Saint Athanasius (2 May) was extremely influential in the development and spread of monasticism. Remembered as the father of monasticism.

St Agnes: Died at Rome, perhaps in the early fourth century. One of the most widely venerated of the Roman martyrs. According to early accounts, she gave her life to preserve her virginity consecrated to Christ.

Each module includes 10 sessions supported with individual reflection and a certificate awarded for completion. The modules will be spread across four semesters in 2023 and 2024 and cover theology, scripture, sacraments and mission.

The first module, Catholic Theology in Context, led by Shane Dwyer (Evangelisation Brisbane Associate Director, Adult Formation) will commence on Monday night 20 February 2023 at Xavier Hall, Holy Spirit Seminary.
